INBETWEEN PUBLICATION WIZARD

As if by magic – plan & create your publications online

To integrate different departments in the publication planning process, it is best to work with InBetween Publication Wizard, the online collaboration solution that works online across roles such as purchasing, marketing, product management and integrates seamlessly with media designer working with Adobe InDesign.

InBetween Publication Wizard allows you to make your publication planning and building workflows fit your organization and publication processes, creating a collaborative environment for your team to iteratively plan and build publications: Non-technical users from purchasing, product management or marketing can participate as well.
