INBETWEEN SERVER

The powerful solution for automatic creation of publications

InBetween Server automates the production of publications from your product information and layout specifications, dynamically on the basis of different languages, currencies, units of measurement or even product ranges or target groups.

InBetween Server is included in all InBetween solutions and can be employed for a range of use cases, for instance:

- automatic generation of multi-lingual catalogs
- on demand pdf generation from web pages
- on demand generation of individualized publications from self-service portals
